Perspective: 3 artists, 3 perspectives from 3 different generations

🕒 Saturday 10:00 o'clock

We see pictorial spaces full of emotion as “expressive images combined with the traces of her inner canvas” by the artist Gerda Tschofen

Description

Leah Camilla Rusch, a young artist from Feldkirch, concentrates on “the exploration of temporality and its influence on space”, presented primarily in sculptural form and as installations using a wide variety of materials.

Patrick Roth is a glass artist. “Beautiful is not enough” is his guiding principle. The glass sculptures are primarily captivating due to their external aesthetics - but it only becomes exciting when you recognize the depth of the works and can immerse yourself in this “supercooled liquid”.
